Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 27 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Remaining largely dry and feeling muggy overnight.

This Evening and Tonight:
Remaining dry as clear spells develop through the evening for most. By dawn, outbreaks of rain are likely in the far south of the region. Feeling chilly under the clearest skies. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Monday:
A bright start in the north with sunny spells during the day. Cloudier conditions further south with some rain at times that may edge northwards, particularly in the evening. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Some outbreaks of rain are likely in the south on Tuesday morning, but after this clears the remainder of the period generally settled, fine, and warm, with sunny spells throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.